

STEVEN J. TACKETT

Steve Tackett's practice covers all aspects of an active estate planning, probate, mediation, and tax law practice. Mr. Tackett's extensive estate planning practice involves the design and implementation of traditional and non-traditional estate plans for both U.S. and non-U.S. clients of the firm, including the use of revocable or irrevocable trusts, testamentary and lifetime gift planning, marital property agreements, life insurance and life insurance trusts, non-profit corporations and charitable trusts and private foundations, as well as coordination and disposition non-probate assets such as contractual benefits held in qualified plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs), and business succession planning involving the use of corporations, general or limited partnerships, and limited liability companies.

Mr. Tackett's probate practice includes the probate of wills and the determination of heirship of decedents dying without wills. Mr. Tackett is highly experienced in the judicial construction, reformation, modification, and termination of trusts as well as in the representation of executors, trustees and beneficiaries in the administration, settlement, and distribution of estates or trusts. Mr. Tackett serves as a Qualified Impartial Third Party or Mediator in the private or court-referred mediation or arbitration of disputes involving estates, probates, trusts, marital property disputes, charitable organizations, and estate, gift, and generation-skipping transfer tax issues. Mr. Tackett's tax practice includes the representation of clients with tax controversies pending before the Internal Revenue Service and state tax agencies. As both an attorney in private practice and as a former estate tax attorney with the Internal Revenue Service, Mr. Tackett has substantial experience in the preparation, examination, and appeal of federal estate and gift tax returns, and state and federal generation-skipping transfer tax returns.
